MOBILE WORKBENCHES WITH A WOODEN OR STEEL OR WOODEN/STEEL TOP

The mobile workbench is made from 50x50x5mm mild steel angle iron and is a very robust workbench that can be turned into a static workbench, this is achieved by a handle on the side of the bench that once pushed drops the workbench onto its four legs making the workbench completely static. To push it back lifts the legs up and back onto the castors making the bench completely mobile again enabling you to push it where it needs to go. This particular mobile bench is proving to be very popular amongst the mechanics that have to move from station to station and also the engineer on the move
